The screenshot shows the NewsBank search interface. At the top, there are navigation links: "Other Products", "View History", "My Collection", "Login", "Help", and "Contact Customer Service". A "survey" button is also present with the text "Tell us what you think of our interface".

The main header reads "NewsBank America's Newspapers and World News" with the tagline "Explore news articles from 1978 - Current search view of content".

The search area includes a "New Search" section with a text input field, a date range selector (AND, Date(s)), and a "search" button. Below this is a checkbox for "Want to be alerted to the latest news on a topic?" and a "Learn More" link.

The "Browse by:" section shows "USA" selected. A red box highlights the "Select Multiple States and Territories" link. Below this is a list of states and territories with their respective source counts:

State and Territory	Source Count
USA - Alabama	51 Sources
USA - Alaska	26 Sources
USA - Arizona	80 Sources
USA - Arkansas	85 Sources
USA - California	376 Sources
USA - Colorado	85 Sources

USA - Louisiana	71 Sources
USA - Maine	13 Sources
USA - Maryland	70 Sources
USA - Massachusetts	237 Sources
USA - Michigan	153 Sources
USA - Minnesota	103 Sources

To the right of the list is a map of the United States with the text "Click on map to search by location". Below the map are insets for "Northern Mariana Islands", "American Samoa", and "Guam". A legend on the right side of the map identifies "U.S. Virgin Islands", "Puerto Rico", and "Guam".

At the bottom right of the screenshot, the date "4/17/2019" is displayed.

The screenshot shows the NewsBank search interface. The 'Browse by' section is expanded to 'State and Territory', showing a list of 56 states and territories. The 'USA - Georgia' option is selected and highlighted with a red box. A red arrow points to the 'Include' button in the 'Shortcuts' section. The date '4/17/2019' is visible in the bottom right corner.

The screenshot shows the NewsBank search interface with the 'State and Territory' filter expanded. The 'USA - Georgia' option is selected and highlighted with a red box. The date '4/17/2019' is visible in the bottom right corner.

The screenshot shows the NewsBank search interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links like 'Other Products', 'View History', 'My Collection', 'Login', 'Help', and 'Contact Customer Service'. A 'survey' button is also present. The main header reads 'NewsBank America's Newspapers and World News' with a sub-header 'Explore news articles from 1972 - Current overview of content'. Below this is a search bar with 'All Text' selected and 'medicaid fraud' entered. The search results are displayed in a list format, showing the first 10 of 2,715 results. The results are sorted by 'Most recent matches first'. The first result is 'Indicted' from the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette (Little Rock, AR) dated April 12, 2019. The second result is 'Former Arkansas state senator faces U.S. graft charges' from the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette (Little Rock, AR) dated April 12, 2019. The third result is 'GWINNETT - LAWRENCEVILLE - Guilty plea in scamming the disabled' from the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, The (GA) dated April 12, 2019. The fourth result is 'Carr announces guilty plea in Medicaid fraud case' from the Griffin Daily News, The (GA) dated April 12, 2019. The interface includes various filters on the left side, such as 'Source Type', 'Publication', 'State and Territory', 'Region', 'City', 'Decade', 'Year', 'Month', 'Day', 'Era', and 'Presidential Era'. There are also 'Shortcuts' for 'World', 'USA', 'Kentucky Newspapers', 'Major Metro Titles', 'Access Notices', 'Access Medicaid Transcripts', 'Access Business News', 'Access International News', 'Access Military Gov. Defense', and 'Access News wires'. A 'Limit results to:' section shows 'USA' selected and 'Multiple States and Territories' as an option. A 'Sort:' dropdown is set to 'Most recent matches first'. A 'Page Options' dropdown is set to '10' results per page. A 'Result Format' dropdown is set to 'Standard'. A 'Find a Topic' button is located on the right side. The date '4/17/2019' is displayed in the bottom right corner.

The Philadelphia Inquirer was founded in 1829 as The Pennsylvania Inquirer by John Norvell and John R. Walker. The paper serves the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania area with local coverage that extends to southeastern Pennsylvania, and southern New Jersey. Particular emphasis is given to Philadelphia as a service center, a shipping and transportation hub, and as a cultural center. The newspaper is the recipient of the Pulitzer Prize. Sections for the Philadelphia Inquirer include Sports, comprised of general sports, local sports and South Jersey sports sections, National and Local News, Business, Features and Editorial. The Inquirer maintains international news bureaus, national bureaus and state news bureaus.

Times-Tribune, The (Corbin, KY) - February 15, 2019 Browse Issues
 Author/Byline: Erin Cox Editor Section: Local News

CORBIN — Corbin High School Principal John Crawford told Corbin Rotary Club members the highlights about Corbin High School as well as the challenges the high school and its students face.

Crawford has been the principal of Corbin High School for five years. Prior to being principal, he was the assistant principal and a history teacher.

"It is a great honor for me to be principal because I feel like our whole community centers around what our school systems are doing," he said on Thursday to members of the Corbin Rotary Club during their weekly luncheon.

Corbin High School currently has 990 students, Crawford reported, noting that in the last four to five years an influx of about 350 students has occurred.

"They're coming from Laurel County, Knox County, they're coming from Michigan, they're coming from Texas, so we have just another influx of a great number of kids," he said.

Despite being a small independent school system, as Crawford classified Corbin's school system, he said the high school offers many programs, as well as students in those programs, that are gaining statewide recognition. He mentioned the accomplishments of the culinary program that has competed at the state level, as well as the theatre, band and choir programs that have students getting state awards and honors.

Crawford also recognized the JROTC program which has 125 involved in the program this year.

"They're doing a tremendous amount of community service," Crawford said. The JROTC students help with various races around the community as well as providing service like last weekend where the students helped the forestry department put old Christmas trees in Laurel Lake for fish habitats.

"We like our sports, I guess," Crawford said, which was met with laughter. The athletic program at Corbin High School has already earned three region titles this year, after last year's record year of earning 10 region titles throughout the school year.

"Besides just the student that we're trying to teach, the extracurricular activities we're also really trying to build that solid human being there and teaching kids about work ethic, teaching kids about decorum, about how to act," he said.

Academically the school continues to see its students exceed state averages. Corbin High School students have an average ACT score 2.2 points higher than the state average of about 18.

"I'm proud to say that Corbin High School in that 229 (high schools in Kentucky) have led the state of Kentucky three straight years of kids meeting benchmarks and kids completing career pathways," Crawford said. "It takes a lot of work, it takes a lot of work with our counselors and our teachers and a lot of guidance."

"I can't do this without the administration at the top, without the community, our teachers," he said. "We're a top 1% high school and it

Theatre [502]'s 'Women Laughing Alone With Salad' Tackles Image-Obsessed Culture Hide Details
Louisville Eccentric Observer (KY) - April 10, 2019 Browse Issues
Author/Byline: Chris Howley Section: Theater

We've all seen the pictures before. On the internet, it's become something of a joke: stock images of a lone woman, always young and usually white, hiding a bowl of salad — not quite eating — and laughing. Why? It's never explained, and it doesn't really matter. It says something about the way our society views women, as objects and images rather than fully-fleshed people. In fact, it makes such a statement that playwright Sheila Callaghan was inspired to write an entire play about the ludicrous series of stock photos.

Callaghan's "Women Laughing Alone With Salad" is a good match for theatergoers who enjoy Mara Nelson-Greenberg's surrealist, topical plays or many of the shows put on by the Humana Festival of New American Plays or Actors Theatre's training company this season. While this show is distinctly Theatre [502]'s style, it does have a similar quirky feeling to it, with a small but versatile cast and themes that occasionally stop the audience members in the middle of a laugh and rattle around in their brains for days afterward.

This pointed, thought-provoking play fits well as the ending for Theatre [502]'s current season, following a portrayal of a young woman trying to find her voice as a composer ("A Feminine Ending") and a haunting, intriguing story of a young boy who inherits an art museum during the Mexican revolution ("Sergio's Museum"). However, while both of those previous plays were close-up character studies of the protagonists, "Women Laughing Alone With Salad" feels more high concept.

In fact, the only character who seems to really have a fluid internal arc throughout is Guy (Eli Keel). The women struggle with the image-obsessed culture in which they live — with eating disorders and with fighting off the signs of aging, but they all feel like character types: Tori (Gracie Taylor), the health and fitness nut, Sandy (Dee Smith), the aging, former activist, and Meredith (Jessica May), the audacious fat girl with the retro style. Stock characters, if you will, whose personalities seem to revolve around how they relate to Guy.

This is not to say that the portrayals of the characters are lacking. May plays Meredith's swings between daring bravado and insecure defensiveness, her romanticism of decadence followed by immediate shame when she actually indulges, in a way that's devastating. Taylor gives Tori a constant motion of energy, and everything about her demeanor makes you feel how hard she's trying. Smith shows comedic aptitude from the beginning and delivers a stinging performance as she tells Guy about her decision to keep him and marry his father. They make the women feel believable, but the stories aren't particularly nuanced here, as if portraying concepts of women meant to represent issues women face in our society rather than characters with fully fleshed out arcs. This is no doubt intentional, a commentary on the stock photo inspiration as well as the way that female characters are often portrayed only in terms of how they affect the male protagonist.

It's a little disheartening for female audiences who already know the score and want to see women who feel real, especially as it's difficult to sympathize with Guy. Up to the end of the show, he continues to think of these women in terms of how they affected him, how they "haunt him." However, the show is very aware of Guy's clear avoidance of the point. We've all known someone like Guy, and likely members of the audience have been someone like Guy. It may not be much of a character study like the past shows, but "Women Laughing Alone With Salad" is nothing if not clever and effective in getting its message across.

A clever element of this show is the shift in the cast between Act One and the much shorter Act Two. When the lights come back up, May and Taylor play a pair of male coworkers preparing the presentation. Their second act characters parallel their first act characters: she works out constantly as a "masculine" answer to Tori's looks, and Sandy is involved in a "three men" who make his health nervous and

A table lists various publications with columns for Publication, Related Titles, Source Type, Format, Language, Date Range, and Location. The table includes entries like 'ABC-11 WHAS (Louisville, KY)', 'ABC-38 WTVQ (Lexington, KY)', 'Adair Progress, The (KY)', 'Advocate Messenger, The (Danville, KY)', 'Anderson News (Lawrenceburg, KY)', 'Associated Press State Wire: Kentucky (KY)', 'Associated Press: Fort Mitchell Metro Area (KY)', 'Associated Press: Louisville Metro Area (KY)', 'Bowling Green Examiner (KY)', 'Business Lexington (KY)', 'Carrollton News-Democrat (KY)', 'Casey County News (Liberty, KY)', 'CBS-27 WKYT (Lexington, KY)', 'Cento, The: Centre College (Danville, KY)', 'Central Kentucky News-Journal, The (Carnobellville, KY)', and 'Chevy Chaser (Lexington, KY)'. A date stamp '4/17/2019' is visible in the bottom right corner of the table area.

This screenshot shows the same NewsBank search results for 'opioid', but with expanded article snippets. The search criteria are the same as in the first screenshot. Below the search bar, there are options to 'Create Email Alert' and 'Save Search'. The 'Limit results to:' section shows 'Kentucky Newspapers' selected. The results are displayed as a list of four items, each with a title, source, date, and a snippet of text. Item 1: 'Winners announced in Kentucky AP broadcasters contest' from Associated Press State Wire: Kentucky (KY) on April 14, 2019. Item 2: 'Groups partner in effort to increase organ donation' from Glasgow Daily Times (KY) on April 12, 2019. Item 3: 'Spivry trial: Medical examiner testifies about Phobus autopsy' from Messenger, The (Madisonville, KY) on April 12, 2019. Item 4: 'Chief justice unveils opioid-related court initiative' from Associated Press State Wire: Kentucky (KY) on April 11, 2019. A date stamp '4/17/2019' is visible in the bottom right corner.

This screenshot shows the NewsBank search interface. The search term 'opioid' is entered in the 'Headline' field. The search results are filtered to 'Kentucky Newspapers' and show 846 results. The first eight results are listed, including articles from Lexington Herald-Leader, Associated Press, Harlan Daily Enterprise, Lebanon Enterprise, Middlesboro Daily News, Lexington Herald-Leader, and Morehead News. A date '4/17/2019' is visible in the bottom right corner of the results area.

This screenshot is identical to the one above, but with several red boxes highlighting specific elements: the search input field containing 'opioid', the text 'Showing 1-10 of 846 Results', the title of the third article 'Opioid overdose deaths: A national catastrophe', the title of the fourth article 'Kentucky is trying to combat the opioid problem - By State Sen. Jimmy Higdon', and the title of the sixth article 'Federal prosecutors finding new ways to fight Ky.'s opioid crisis'. The date '4/17/2019' is also present in the bottom right corner.

Mntn. Legislators bring Ky. Legislative Committee on Energy to coal country Hide Details

Middlesboro Daily News, The (KY) - August 16, 2008 Browse Issues

PINEVILLE - "There's a lot of power here in this room," Bell County Judge-Executive Albey Brock said on Friday as a Legislative Research Commission Meeting on Energy began.

Friday marked the first time in history that legislators from all over the Commonwealth came together to discuss energy in the heart of Appalachian coal country, Bell County, Ky.

The meeting was called to order at 10 a.m. in the Ray Harm Conference Room at Pine Mountain State Resort Park and was Co-chaired by Sen. Brandon Smith and Rep. Rick Nelson.

The first presentation given was by Sheila Medina, Engineering Program Manager and Kunlei Liu, Associate Director, both from the Center for Applied Energy Research which included information on research for carbon capture and use.

Marty Blake, principal of The Prime Group, LLC, gave a speech about the innovative rates for natural gas. Last on the agenda was Executive Director of the Public Service Commission Stephanie Stumbo and Deputy Executive Director/General Counsel David Stamford who presented an overview of current key issues.

The breakfast for the meeting was hosted by the Bell County Chamber of Commerce and sponsored by the Bell County Fiscal Court, Jennifer Jones and Long's Pic Pac. Lunch was provided by Bell County Coal Corporation and Xinergy Corporation.

The screenshot shows the NewsBank search interface. At the top, there are navigation links: Other Products, View History, My Collection (gabbys), Help, Contact Customer Service, a survey link, and a feedback prompt. The main header reads "NewsBank America's Newspapers and World News" with a sub-header "Explore news articles from 1976 - Current".

The search section is highlighted with a red box and contains the following criteria:

- All Text (dropdown)
- OR (dropdown)
- All Text (dropdown)
- OR (dropdown)
- All Text (dropdown)
- OR (dropdown)
- All Text (dropdown)

The search terms entered are: "KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT FOR LIBRAR", "KDLA", "STATE LIBRARY", and "STATE ARCHIVES". There are also links for "Add Row" and "Remove Row". Below the search criteria, there is a "Sort by:" dropdown set to "Most recent matches first" and a "search" button. A checkbox option "Want to be alerted to the latest news on a topic? Learn More" is also present.

The "Browse by:" section is set to "Kentucky Newspapers" with a "Clear All" link. Below this, a table displays search results for 76 publications. The table has columns for Publication, Related Titles, Source Type, Format, Language, Date Range, and Location. The results include various news sources such as ABC-11 WHAS, ABC-36 WTVQ, Adair Progress, Advocate-Messenger, Anderson News, Associated Press State Wire, Associated Press Fort Mitchell Metro Area, Associated Press Louisville Metro Area, Bowling Green Examiner, Business Lexington, Carrollton News Democrat, Casey County News, and CBS-27 WKYT.

The screenshot shows the NewsBank search interface. At the top, there are navigation links: "Other Products", "View History", "My Collection (gaboyx)", "Help", and "Contact Customer Service". A "survey" button with the text "Tell us what you think of our interface!" is also present. The main header features the NewsBank logo and the text "America's Newspapers and World News" with a sub-link "Explore news articles from 1978 - Current overview of content".

The search section is titled "New Search" and contains several input fields. The search terms are: "KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT FOR LIBRARIES", "KDLA", "STATE LIBRARY", and "STATE ARCHIVES". The "Sort by:" dropdown is set to "Most recent matches first". A "search" button is highlighted in yellow, and a "Save Search" button is circled in red.

Below the search section, the "Limit results to:" dropdown is set to "Kentucky Newspapers". The "Results (1,092)" section shows a list of search results. The first result is "Runyon delves into library archives to inspire students" from the Floyd County Times, dated December 3, 2015. Other results include "Funds Received To Preserve Local Records", "Meetings restored to HCEC-TV website - Radcliff mayor reverses decision in response to feedback about council videos", "Radcliff resident to seek clarification on video destruction rules - Attempts to preserve backup copies made through open records request", "Clerk's office receives grant to help preserve records", and "County clerk's office receives records preservation grant".

On the left side, there are filters for "Source Type", "Publication", "City", "Decade", "Year", "Month", "Day", "Era", and "Presidential Era". - Article title: Henry County library employees complete specialized training program.
- Metadata: Henry County Local (New Castle, KY) - October 26, 2016. Section: Today's Features.
- Text: The Henry County Public Library recently announced that library staff members Natalie Jeffries and Leslie McBride have completed the Public Library Institute (PLI). The Institute is offered yearly through the Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives.
- Text: PLI is an intensive two-week library science experience. During the Institute public library training was conducted and included hands-on and role-play activities. Topics such as customer service, library marketing, youth and adult services, cataloging, collection development and technology were covered.
- Text: PLI is supported in whole or in part by the Institute of Museum and Library Services under the provision of the Library Services and Technology Act as administered by the Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives.
- Text: "My training at PLI has prepared me to better serve members of the library by giving me creative and fun program ideas and by furthering my knowledge on all the materials we carry," said Adult Services Librarian Natalie Jeffries.
- Text: "The Public Library Institute is such a great opportunity for public library staff from across the Commonwealth to learn about library services, as well as learn from each other," said Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives continuing education supervisor Alicia McGrath.
- Text: "I absolutely love working at the library; in fact, it is the most fulfilling job I have ever had. I have become very attached to our bookmobile patrons, both young and old, and helping to provide them with access to books makes me happy. Children running up to the bookmobile like the ice cream truck has arrived; the smile on homebound patrons' faces when we visit, doing a little extra chore or two for someone who lives alone and can no longer do the things that they could once do, these are the images that come to mind," said Bookmobile Librarian Leslie McBride.
- Text: "Natalie and Leslie are both passionate about what they do. It's been wonderful to see them take the new things they have learned and immediately put them into practice by offering great programs for adults and home visits for senior citizens," said library Director Jessica Powell.
