Records Retention Schedule

Prepared by the State Records Branch
Archives and Records Management Division
Approved by the State Archives and Records Commission

This records retention schedule governs retention and disposal of records created, used and maintained by the Office of the State Budget Director (OSBD). Government records in Kentucky can only be disposed of with the approval of the State Archives and Records Commission (the Commission). If records do not appear on a Commission-approved records retention schedule, agencies should not destroy those records. This agency-specific schedule was drafted by OSBD personnel and Archives and Records Management Division staff, and reviewed and approved by the Commission. This schedule provides the legal authority for OSBD to destroy the records listed, after the appropriate retention periods have passed.

OSBD personnel should use this agency-specific schedule in combination with the General Schedule for State Agencies (General Schedule), also approved by the Commission. The General Schedule applies to records that are created, used and maintained by staff at all or most state agencies. Agency-specific retention schedules are used only by specific agencies and apply to records that are created only by a particular state agency, or to records that a state agency is required to retain longer than the approved time period on the General Schedule. The General Schedule and agency-specific retention schedule should cover all records for OSBD.

This retention schedule applies to state agency records and information regardless of how it is created or stored. For example, information created and sent using e-mail is as much a public record as materials created or maintained in paper. Kentucky law defines public records, in part, as "documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, which are prepared, owned, used, in the possession of or retained by a public agency" (KRS 171.410[1]). This means that records management standards and principles apply to all forms of recorded information, from creation to final disposition, regardless of the medium. Records retention scheduling is important in developing, using, and managing computer systems and other electronic devices. Records management practices encourage cost-effective use of electronic media through accurate retention scheduling and legal destruction of records.

All state government employees are responsible for maintaining records according to the retention schedule, whether those records are stored electronically or in paper. Information must be accessible to the appropriate parties until all legal, fiscal, and administrative retention periods are met, regardless of the records storage medium.

This retention schedule covers the content of records created by OSBD, including records created or stored using computers and computer systems. The General Schedule for Electronic and Related Records applies to records related to computers or a computer system. Examples of these include system documentation and use records, backup files, or website format and control records.

Audits and Legal Action

Agency records may be subject to fiscal, compliance or procedural audit. If an agency should maintain records longer than the approved retention period, as may be the case with some federal audits, then all affected records should be retained until the audit has been completed and the retention period met. In no case should records that are subject to audit be destroyed until the audit has been completed and retention periods met, or the records have been officially exempt from any audit requirements.

Records may also be involved in legal or investigative actions, such as lawsuits, administrative hearings or open records matters. These records must be retained at least until all legal or investigative matters have concluded, regardless of retention period. This includes all appeals of lawsuits.

Vital Records

Vital records are essential to the continued functioning of an agency during and after an emergency. Vital records are also essential to the protection of the rights and interests of an agency and of the individuals for whose rights and interests it has a responsibility. Vital records are identified in the retention schedule with a (V).

Confidential Records

While all records created, used and maintained by government agency personnel are public records, not all of those records are open to public inspection. Whether a record is open to public inspection is determined by the state's Open Records laws and other relevant state or federal statutes and regulations. Restriction of public inspection of confidential records may apply to the whole record or only to certain information contained in the record.

Kentucky's public records are considered open for public inspection unless there is some specific law or regulation that exempts them. Agency personnel who believe certain records are confidential should submit a citation from Kentucky Revised Statutes, Administrative Regulations, Code of Federal Regulations, or similar authority. State agency heads have the responsibility to know all the appropriate confidentiality laws, statutes and regulations that apply to the records maintained by their agency and to see that those laws are enforced. Even though a record series may or may not be marked confidential on a retention schedule, contradictory laws or regulations that are passed after the schedule has been approved must be honored.

Copies of Records

Agency personnel often make copies of records for internal use or reference purposes. Agencies should designate one copy as the official copy and make sure it is retained according to the records retention schedule. Agencies can destroy all other copies when no longer useful.

Updating the Retention Schedule

Per 725 KAR 1:010, the head of each state government agency is required to designate a member of his or her staff to serve as a records officer. The agency records officer represents that agency in its records-related work with the Archives and Records Management Division. The agency records officer is responsible for assisting the Archives and Records Management Division in drafting a records retention schedule, and in finding any schedule updates to bring before the Commission. The retention schedule should be reviewed on a regular basis to suggest appropriate changes to the Commission.

Office of the State Budget Director

The mission of the Office of the State Budget Director is to provide the Governor and the Commonwealth high quality analysis, sound advice, objective research, and management assistance in regard to the policy, budget, and economic issues facing the Commonwealth; and to ensure the fiscal integrity and continuity of Kentucky state government.

The Office of State Budget Director, created in KRS 11.068, includes the Governor's Office for Policy Management, the Governor's Office for Policy Research, and the Governor's Office for Economic Analysis. Under the direction of the State Budget Director, these offices serve as staff to the Governor.

Each agency, with help from advisors employed by the Governor's Office for Policy and Management (GOPM), submits a proposed budget to GOPM every two years. GOPM staff review the proposed budgets and suggest changes if necessary. Once this stage of the budget process is completed, the proposed budget (Executive Budget-04161) is sent to the General Assembly for approval. In the General Assembly this budget can be approved as is or modified, then approved. Once the proposed budget is approved, it becomes the official operating budget for these state agencies.

Each record is used within GOPM for fiscal management of the particular capital construction account. The system provides summary level information in a way that is meaningful for analysis and decision making support. It provides a graphical user interface which can be operated by non-technical users. The data for the budget application is extracted from the Statewide Accounting and Reporting System (STARS) (NOS) and is manipulated on the state level computer (mainframe). This systems allows financial analysts to gather information without requiring them to have expertise with STARS. It provides accounting data in graphical form, shows changes over time, allows data to be extracted and downloaded to desktop computers for use in spreadsheets. The system has a worksheet feature which allows the accounting data to be manipulated for projections and trends. The Legislative Research Commission has direct access to this system via the state mainframe. *System has only been in use for one year.

It would decrease if taken from one account and put into another. The revisions are sent to the General Assembly's Appropriations and Revenue Committee for approval.
